

Vinícius da Silva &lt;viniciuxcostasilva@gmail.com&gt;

---

Authorisation | Translation

---

Linda s Alcott <lmartina@hunter.cuny.edu>
Para: Vinícius da Silva <viniciuxcostasilva@gmail.com>

11 de abril de 2020 15:59

Dear Vinicius,
Yes that would be wonderful, and I'm sorry I missed your previous email. I will give you permission to translate The Problem of Speaking for Others into Portuguese. Thank you very much
Linda Alcott

Sent from my iPhone
lmartina@hunter.cuny.edu

On Apr 11, 2020, at 1:36 PM, Vinícius da Silva <viniciuxcostasilva@gmail.com> wrote:

Dear Professor Alcott, I hope this email finds your family well and safe.

Your husband answered my tweet and I write to you again. (Please send my acknowledgements.)

I'm Vinícius da Silva, a Brazilian student, and translator, and I'm writing you to ask for permission to translate and publish, here in Brazil, your paper "The Problem of Speaking for Others" (Cultural Critique, n°. 20 (Winter, 1991-1992), pp. 5-32). I haven't decided where to publish it yet, but I will not receive any money with this translation.

Therefore, I ask you to send me a letter for permission, if it's possible. Or should I send an email to Jstor? I don't hope so.

Let me know if you need more information.

Warm regards,

--

Vinícius da Silva
www.viniciuxdasilva.com.br